

What Would Your Body Taste Like To a Cannibal?

A new study claims that for the first time ever, Canadians are wealthier than Americans. We are their Mexico now it turns out.

Famous Cat Haters

I HATE CATS!

Dwight D. Eisenhower
Commander of US forces in Europe during WWII

OMG me too. They give my armies itchy eyes.

Adolf Hitler
Commander of the Nazi forces during WWII

Famous Cat Lovers

I love my kitty. Let's end this war and start a kitty ranch together.

Robert E. Lee
Commander of the south during the Civil War

Ok LOL

Abraham Lincoln
Commander of the North during the Civil War

Speaking of Abe...

President Lincoln kept four cats in the White House.

Your cat purrs at the same frequency as an idling diesel engine.

This is around 26 purrs per second.

Guinea pigs, rabbits, squirrels, lemurs, elephants, and gorillas also purr.

"Do you remember first meeting your wife?"

"Sure, I found Jill lying face down in the gutter. I lifted her to her feet and promised her that if she agreed to marry me, she would begin a new life and I'd never allow her near the gutter again."

"Wow, what an incredible story! I hope she appreciates what you did for her."

"Not really. Even though she stunk at it, Jill hated to give up bowling."

For their anniversary, a couple went out for a romantic dinner. Their teenage daughters said they would fix a dessert and leave it waiting.

When they got home, they saw that the dining room table was beautifully set with china, crystal and candles, and there was a note that read: "Your dessert is in the refrigerator. We are staying with friends, so go ahead and do something we wouldn't do!"

"I suppose," the husband responded dryly, "we could clean the house."

New definition of "ladylike". King Henry VIII's ladies at court had a ration of one gallon of beer per day.

I thought about how mothers feed their babies with tiny little spoons and forks, so I wondered... what about people who eat with chopsticks --

A trooper pulled a car over on a quiet country road. As he walked up to the driver, he said, "Excuse me, ma'am, but why were you driving erratically? You were weaving all over the road."

"Thank goodness you're here, officer!" she gasped. "I almost had an accident. I looked up, and there was a tree right in front of me. I swerved to avoid it but there was another tree. I swerved to avoid that one and there was another. It was terrifying!" Calmly, the officer reached through the window to the rearview mirror and said, "Ma'am, there was no tree. It was your air freshener."

In Hong Kong a wife may legally kill her adulterous husband, but only with her bare hands.

Pelly Coffee Pot July 30, 2012 vol 3 - 26

Grounds for Divorce

A judge was interviewing a lady regarding her pending divorce, and asked, "What are the grounds for your divorce?"

She replied, "About four acres and a nice little home in the middle of the property with a stream running by."

"No," he said, "I mean what is the foundation of this case?"

"It is made of concrete, brick and mortar," she responded.

"I mean," he continued, "What are your relations like?"

"I have an aunt and uncle living here in town, and so do my husband's parents."

He said, "Do you have a real grudge?"

"No," she replied, "We have a two-car carport and have never really needed one."

"Please," he tried again, "is there any infidelity in your marriage?"

"Yes, both my son and daughter have stereo sets. We don't necessarily like the music, but the answer to your question is 'yes'."

"Ma'am, does your husband ever beat you up?"

"Yes," she responded, "about twice a week he gets up earlier than I do."

Finally, in frustration, the judge asked, "Lady, why do you want a divorce?"

"Oh, I don't want a divorce," she replied. "I've never wanted a divorce. My husband does. He said he can't communicate with me, but I have no idea what he's talking about."

Events - 2012

Aug 4 - Steenan Parade

Aug 6 - Holiday

Aug 10 - Roughriders at Edmonton

Sept 4 - new school year starts

The Cardiologist's Funeral

A cardiologist died and was given an elaborate funeral.

After the usual sermon by a preacher and testimonials from friends and colleagues, everyone finally learned the purpose of a huge heart covered in flowers, on the wall behind the casket during the service.

After a moment of silence the heart opened, and the casket rolled inside. The heart then closed, sealing the doctor in the beautiful heart forever. The long, stunned hush of the mourners was broken when a man near the front burst into laughter. The preacher demanded an explanation.

"I'm sorry," the man said, "I was just thinking of my own funeral -- I'm a gynecologist." At which point the proctologist fainted.

"Why is it that when we talk to God we're said to be praying, but when God talks to us we're schizophrenic?"
—Lily Tomlin

A homeowner in Buchanan Wisconsin woke up late one night in 2009 to the sound of breaking glass. He looked outside and saw that there was broken glass in the street. The police investigators visited local auto glass shops to see if anybody had come in needing a new car window and found a customer named Andrew whose car police traced to the glass. When questioned Andrew admitted that he decided to do a drive-by shooting at the home of his ex-girlfriend's family but he forgot to roll down his car window before firing his gun and was arrested. According to police "alcohol was a factor."

Criticize

Before you criticize someone walk a mile in their shoes, so that when you criticize them you will be a mile away and you'll have their shoes.

Deciding to take up jogging, the middle-aged man was astounded by the wide selection of jogging shoes available at the local sports shoe store. While trying on a basic pair of jogging shoe, he noticed a minor feature and asked the clerk about it.

"What's this little pocket thing here on the side for?"

"Oh, that's to carry spare change so you can call your wife to come pick you up when you've jogged too far."

When speaking to your children, say what you mean, mean what you say, but don't be mean when you say it.

The story of a 10-gallon hat being so named because it could hold that much water is a myth. Galon is the Spanish word for "braid," and back in the day, it was a tradition to have a tall-crowned hat that left room for several rows of braided hatbands. English-speaking cowboys heard "galon" and thought "gallon."

Smith goes to see his supervisor in the front office.

"Boss," he says, "we're doing some heavy house-cleaning at home tomorrow, and my wife needs me to help with the attic and the garage, moving and hauling stuff."

"We're short-handed, Smith," the boss replies. "I can't give you the day off." "Thanks, boss," says Smith, "I knew I could count on you!"

2 Words

A man joined the priesthood. The order he joined could not speak for seven years. Then they could only say 2 words.

The first seven years passed and they went into a small room. His 2 word were "too cold".

The next seven years passed and they took him back into the small room and his 2 words were "bad food".

The next seven years passed they took him back into the small room and his 2 words were "I quit".

"Good," they said, "all you have done is complain."

Wisdom of the Ages

Famous last (and not-so-last) words.

1. "Computers, in the future, may weigh no more than 1.5 tons." --Popular Mechanics, forecasting the relentless march of science, 1949.

2. "I think there is a world market for, maybe, five computers." --Thomas Watson, chairman of IBM, 1943.

3. "I have traveled the length and breadth of this country, and talked with the best people, and I can assure you that data processing is a fad that won't last out the year." --The editor in charge of business books for Prentice Hall, 1957.

4. "But what ...is it good for?" --Engineer at the Advanced Computing Systems Division of IBM, 1968, commenting on the microchip.

5. "There is no reason anyone would want a computer in their home." --Ken Olson, president, chairman and founder of Digital Equipment Corp., 1977.

6. "This 'telephone' has too many shortcomings to be seriously considered as a means of communication. The device is, inherently, of no value." --Western Union internal memo, 1876.

7. "The wireless music box has no imaginable commercial value. Who would pay for a message sent to nobody in particular?" --David Sarnoff's associates in

Old Guy at the Gym

An older guy was working out at the gym. He was not in very good shape, but he perked up when he spotted a sweet young thing across the room. She was gorgeous!

He finally caught the trainer's eye and motioned him over.

"Can I help you?" the buff expert asked.

"Yeah," the graying, paunchy, guy said, huffing even though he was only pushing 10 pounds. "That girl over there...."

The trainer takes a quick look. "Ah, Ramona. She's in great shape, eh?"

"Yeah," the guy says, puffing. "What machine in this place should I use to impress her?"

"There's only one machine that could possibly work, if you're up to it," the trainer said.

"What!?" the sweaty flab-master demanded.

"The ATM in the lobby."

response to his urgings for investment in the radio in the 1920s.

8. "The concept is interesting and well-formed. But, in order to earn better than a 'C,' the idea must be feasible." --A Yale Univ. management professor in response to Fred Smith's paper proposing reliable overnight delivery service. (Smith went on to found Federal Express Corp.)

9. "Who wants to hear actors talk?" --H.M. Warner, Warner Brothers, 1927

10. "I'm just glad it will be Clark Gable who is falling on his face and not Gary Cooper." -- Gary Cooper on his decision not to take the leading role in Gone With The Wind.

11. "A cookie store is a bad idea. Besides, the market research reports say America likes crispy cookies, not soft and chewy cookies like you make." --Response to Debbi Fields' idea of starting Mrs. Fields' Cookies.

12. "We don't like their sound and guitar music is on the way out." --Decca Recording Co. rejecting the Beatles, 1962.

14. "Stocks have reached what looks like a permanently high plateau." --Irving Fisher, Professor of Economics, Yale University, 1929.

15. "Airplanes are interesting toys, but of no military value." --Marechal Ferdinand Foch, Professor of Strategy, Ecole Superieure de Guerre.

A job applicant was asked, "What would you consider to be your main strengths and weaknesses?"

"Well," he began, "my main weakness would definitely be my issues with reality--sometimes I have a little trouble telling what's real from what's not."

"Okay," said the interviewer. "And what are your strengths?"

"I'm Batman."

