

The Husband Store

A store has just opened in New York City that offered free husbands. When women go to choose a husband, they have to follow the instructions at the entrance:

"You may visit this store ONLY ONCE! There are 6 floors to choose from. You may choose any item from a particular floor, or may choose to go up to the next floor, but you CANNOT go back down except to exit the building!"

So, a woman goes to the store to find a husband. On the 1st floor the sign on the door reads: Floor 1 These men Have Jobs

The 2nd floor sign reads: Floor 2 - These men Have Jobs and Love Kids. The 3rd floor sign reads: Floor 3 - These men Have Jobs, Love Kids and are extremely Good Looking.

"Wow," she thinks, but feels compelled to keep going. She goes to the 4th floor and sign reads:

Floor 4 - These men Have Jobs, Love Kids, are Drop-dead Good Looking and Help With Housework.

"Oh, mercy me!" she exclaims. "I can hardly stand it!" Still, she goes to the 5th floor and sign reads:

Floor 5 - These men Have Jobs, Love Kids, are Drop-dead Gorgeous, help with Housework and have a Strong Romantic Streak.

She is so tempted to stay, but she goes to the 6th floor and the Sign reads: Floor 6 - You are visitor 71,456,012 to this floor. There are no men on this floor. This floor exists solely as proof that you are impossible to please.

A wife reports, My Husband, not happy with my mood swings so he bought me a mood ring the other day so he would be able to monitor my moods. When I'm in a good mood it turns green. When I'm in a bad mood it leaves a big frickin' red mark on his forehead.

The Wall of Life

A funeral service is being held in a synagogue for a woman who has just passed away.

At the end of the service, the pallbearers are carrying the casket out when they accidentally bump into a wall jarring the casket.

They hear a faint moan. They open the casket and find that the woman is actually alive. She lives for 10 more years and then dies. A ceremony is again held at the same synagogue and at the end of the service the pallbearers are again carrying out the casket.

As they are walking, the husband cries out, "Watch out for the wall!"

Did you hear about the corduroy pillows?
They're making head lines across the nation!

I thought my vasectomy would keep my wife from getting pregnant, but apparently it just changes the colour of the baby!

Wonder Why?

- Is it good if a vacuum really sucks?
- Why is the third hand on the watch called the second hand?
- If a word is misspelled in the dictionary, how would we ever know?
- If Webster wrote the first dictionary, where did he find the words?
- Why do we say something is out of whack? What is a whack?
- Why does "slow down" and "slow up" mean the same thing?
- Why does "fat chance" and "slim chance" mean the same thing?
- Why do "tug" boats push their barges?
- Why do we sing "Take me out to the ball game" when we are already there?
- Why are they called "stands" when they are made for sitting?
- Why is it call "after dark" when it really is "after light"?
- Doesn't "expecting the unexpected" make the unexpected expected?
- Why are a "wise man" and a "wise guy" opposites?
- Why do "overlook" and "oversee" mean opposite things?
- Why is phonics not spelled the way it sounds?

If a man is standing in the middle of the forest speaking and there is no woman around to hear him - Is he still wrong?

Little Johnny attended a horse auction with his father. He watched as his father moved from horse to horse, running his hands up and down the horses legs and rump, and chest. After a few minutes, Johnny asked, "Dad, why are you doing that?" His father replied, "Because when I am buying horses, I have to make sure that they are healthy and in good shape before I buy." Johnny, looking worried, said, "Dad, I think the UPS guy wants to buy Mom."

"Not if I have anything to say about it."

True Story
 California-based Pacific Gas & Electric Co. suffered a catastrophic explosion in a gas line in San Bruno in 2010. The 30-inch diameter pipe had been installed in the 1950s, and its explosion sent flames 1,000 feet into the sky; emergency responders at first thought a jet had crashed, and Bay Area seismographs recorded the explosion as an earthquake. Dozens of houses were destroyed but amazingly, only eight people were killed. Earlier that year, PG&E had been granted a request for a $5 million rate increase to pay for pipeline safety inspections, but a recent audit by the state's Public Utilities Commission discovered the money was instead spent — months before the explosion — on executive bonuses. PG&E had also been given permission to spend $5 million for the same work in 2007. The work has never been done, and the PUC has proposed a record $1.6 billion fine against the company. (RC/Los Angeles Times) ...None of which, of course, will come from the executives' pockets.

There are two brothers, aged four and six. The six year old says "You know, it's about time we started to swear."
 The four year old says "OK."
 The six year old says "From now on I'll say 'hell' and you say 'ass.'"
 The four year old says "OK."
 So they go downstairs and their mother says "What would you boys like for breakfast?"
 The six year old says "Oh what the hell, I'll have corn flakes."
 WHACK!
 The kid goes flying across the room. The mother turns to the four year old and asks "And what would YOU like for breakfast?"
 The four year old says "I don't know, but you can bet your ass it's not corn flakes."

Two snails were standing on the side of the road, a turtle stopped and said, "Do you guys want a ride on my back"?

One of the snails took him up on his offer and off he went. As the turtle reached the intersection another turtle came along and crashed into him. The poor little snail was thrown and killed. A cop investigating the accident began questioning the dead snail's buddy. "What happened?" he asked. The little snail replied, "I don't know it all happened so fast."

Dad I think the Smiths next door are angry at us." "Why is that?"

"They're probably mad because our dog can retrieve the newspaper, and theirs can't." "How could you possibly know that? We don't even subscribe to the paper." "Yeah, that's probably got something to do with it, too."

My dogs' obedience trainer said the test of a dog's disposition was for its owner to fall down and act hurt. A dog with poor temperament would try to bite the owner, where a good dog would lick the owner's face or otherwise show concern. That night, eating pizza in front of the TV, I decided to test this theory on my own dogs. I clutched my heart, slid off the sofa, screamed and fell to the floor. My dogs looked at me, looked at each other, and then raced for the coffee table and ate my pizza!

November 23 is Fibonacci Day
 Leonardo of Pisa, better known as Fibonacci, is responsible for the Fibonacci Sequence (or Fibonacci numbers) – a pattern of counting where each number is the sum of the previous two. (0, 1, 1, 2, 3, 5, 8, 13, 21, 34 ...)
 As well as being prevalent in nature, this kind of system is used widely in computer data storage and processing, and Fibonacci Day recognizes the importance and value of Fibonacci's contributions to mathematics.
 The next time you see a sunflower, look at the arrangements of the seeds at its centre. They appear to be spiralling outwards both to the left and the right

A bent-over old lady hobbled into a doctor's office. Within minutes, she came out again but miraculously, she was standing up as straight as could be. A man in the waiting room who had been watching her said in amazement; "My goodness, what did the doctor do to you?" The old lady replied, "He gave me a longer cane!"

Why don't hedgehogs just share the hedge?

The FBI agent was interviewing the bank teller after the bank's third robbery by the same bandit. "Did you notice anything special about him this time?" "Well, yes," the teller replied. "Each time he's better-dressed!"

Long ago, on New York's lower east side, Mrs. Spinelli and Mrs. Goldberg were bragging about their respective abilities to overfeed dinner guests. With evident pride Mrs. Spinelli says, "When they walk home from my house, they're all doubled-over."
 Without a beat, Mrs. Goldberg answers, "From your house they can walk?"

"Oh, stewardess, does this plane travel faster than sound?" "No, ma'am, it doesn't. Why do you ask?" "Because my friend and I want to talk!"

"The harder I work, the luckier I get."

"It takes a long time to become young."

"The only thing wrong with immortality is that it tends to go on forever."

"The trouble with life isn't that there is no answer, it's that there are so many answers."

Q: Men often brag that there are women waiting by the phone at this very moment for their call. Who are these women?
 A: Women who answer 900 numbers
