Things That Took Me Fifty Years To Learn!!

- 1.) Never under any circumstances take a sleeping pill and a laxative on the same night.
- 2.) If you have to identify, in one word, the reason why the human race has not achieved, and never will achieve, its full potential, that word would be "meetings".
- 3.) There is a very fine line between "hobby" and "mental illness".
- 4.) People who want to share their religious views with you almost never want you to share yours with them.
- 5.) And when God, who created the entire universe with all of its glories, decides to deliver a message to humanity, He WILL NOT use, as His messenger, a person on cable TV with a bad hairstyle.
- 6.) You should not confuse your career with your life.
- 7.) No matter what happens... somebody will find a way to take it too seriously.
- 8.) When trouble arises & things look bad, there is always one individual who perceives a solution & is willing to take command. Very often, that person is crazy.
- 9.) Nobody cares if you can't dance well. Just get up and dance.
- 10.) A person who is nice to you, but rude to the waiter, is not a nice person.
- 11.) Never lick a steak knife.
- 12.) Take out the fortune before you eat the cookie.
- 13.) Your REAL friends still love you anyway.

It's A Monk's Life

In an ancient monastery, a new monk arrived to dedicate his life to God and to join the others copying ancient records. The first thing he noticed was that they were copying by hand books that had already been copied by hand.

He had to speak up. "Forgive me, Father Justinian, but copying other copies by hand allows many chances for error. How do we know we aren't copying someone else's mistakes? Are they ever checked against the originals?"

Father Justinian was startled. No one had ever suggested that before. "Well, that is a good point, my son. I will take one of these latest books down to the vault and study it against its original document."

He went deep into the vault where no one else was allowed to enter and started to study. The day passed, and it was getting late in the evening.

The monks were getting worried about Father Justinian. Finally one monk started making his way through the old vault, and as he began to think he might get lost, he heard sobbing. "Father Justinian," he called.

The sobbing grew louder as he came closer. He finally found the old priest sitting at a table with the new copy and the original ancient book in front of him. It was obvious that Father Justinian had been crying for a long time.

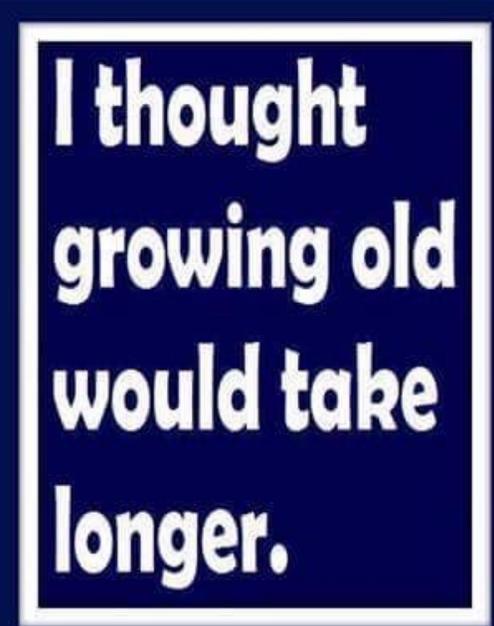

"Oh, my Lord," sobbed Father Justinian, "the word is 'celebrate!'"

The people living in the Renaissance didn't know they were living in the Renaissance. I wonder what period future historians will call present day.

Christmas was finally over and the Pastor's wife dropped into an easy chair saying, "Boy! Am I ever tried."

Her husband looked over at her and said, "I had to conduct two special services last night, three today, and give a total of five sermons. Why are you so tired?"

"Dear," she replied, "I had to listen to all of them."
